PROJECT First National Bank Chadron
Chadron, NE

Renovation

The first level of this 1916 building had been completely updated in 1961 in the Mid-century Modern style. But after five decades of subsequent alterations, the building lacked any distinctive style and functioned poorly. Using federal rehabilitation tax credits, the new first level design eluded to the historic origins of the bank while providing a more modern banking experience. The entrance was reconfigured to be compatible with the Mid-century exterior while increasing functionality of the banking space.
