

Erin Lunn

Receives the Gray Plant Mooty Academic Excellence Scholarship

Erin Lunn has received the National American University (NAU) Foundation's Gray Plant Mooty Academic Excellence Scholarship. Erin is pursuing her Bachelor of Science in Paralegal Studies at NAU's Roseville, Minnesota campus.

Erin's first career as a horse trainer and riding instructor was cut short when she was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 2015. Not letting that slow her down, she switched gears to pursue a career in law. Upon completing her bachelor's degree, Erin plans to go law school and ultimately specialize in military law.

"Both my parents were in the U.S. Army for 25 years, as were a long line of other family members," said Erin. "I lived the military life growing up and moving around the world. I understand and empathize with our active duty military and our veterans."

Erin also volunteers raising funds and awareness for MS research, and is an avid photographer.

This scholarship was made possible by the generosity of Gray Plant Mooty (GPM) and the GPM Foundation. Founded in 1866, GPM is the longest-standing law firm in Minneapolis. "Giving back is at the core of who we are as people and as a firm." More information about GPM charitable giving is available at the Gray Plant Mooty Foundation website.

"I am sincerely grateful to GPM for sponsoring this scholarship," said Erin. "As a Legal Studies student with dreams of attending law school, I was thrilled to receive to learn that GPM, such a prestigious law firm, supported the NAU Foundation's scholarship program, and ultimately me, in this way."
