After almost 1 year, tertiary government hospitals in Ireland are going back to the Philippines to conduct interviews among Filipino nurses. Delegates of these hospitals are visiting Manila from July 2 to 4 to interview IELTS / OET passer nurses through our agency, Abba Personnel Services, Inc.

Ireland: Fastest and Easiest Process Among The Western Countries

Western countries like Ireland are known for a number of advantages: They usually have a liberated culture that presents equal opportunities for everyone; a multicultural environment, often with a sizable Filipino community; and opportunities for Filipinos to migrate so that they can be reunited with their families. Western institutions are also known for their progressive training and modern health care standards and facilities. They also compensate both employees and agencies well, so placement fees are not very common among Western vacancies.

Western countries, however, are also known for their long and complicated hiring and licensing processes. A Filipino nurse aspiring to work in the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia or United States should brace himself for at least a year of taking tests, submitting requirements and processing licensure documents.

Fortunately, applying to Ireland is much faster and easier: Ever since April 2016, Abba has already deployed more than 300 nurses to Ireland! These nurses enjoyed a deployment period of around 4-6 months due to the country's minimal requirements; reasonable IELTS / OET passing scores; and an efficient recruitment service through the Philippines' #1 recruitment agency for Filipino nurses in Ireland. With Ireland, applying as a nurse in a Western country doesn't have to be as slow and complicated as it may seem!
