

Subject Line: Great New Mexico event for your readers - Chocolate and Coffee Festival!

For the chocoholics and caffeine-fiends among your readers, it just doesn't get any better than New Mexico's Southwest Chocolate & Coffee Fest Mar. 23-24.

This is the Southwest's largest gathering of chocolatiers, coffee roasters, tea houses, cake, donut and candy makers, wineries and more. The festival, held at the New Mexico State Fairgrounds in Albuquerque, attracts more than 10,000 chocolate and coffee aficionados each year. Festival goers can sample some of the richest, most decadent chocolate in the country, the bold brew of fresh roasted coffee, the creamy goodness of the perfect latte, or the heavenly cloud of foam on a cappuccino.

In addition to all those luscious morsels of chocolate and rich cups of coffee, the festival will feature baking contests, barista latte art contests and chocolate eating contests. There will also be music, games, bounce houses and face painting for the kids. Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for students and seniors 60+ and admission is free for children 12 and under.

We hope you will consider sharing this decadent event with your readers. Please let us know if you need further information or images.

<https://www.facebook.com/ChocolateAndCoffeeFest>

Sincerely,

Amber Freeland