

European Federation of Immunological Societies

European Journal of Immunology

EFIS-EJI Ruggero Ceppellini Advanced School of Immunology
La Scuola Superiore d'Immunologia Ruggero Ceppellini
Presents an Advanced EFIS-EJI Course on:

Tumour Immunology: from tissue microenvironment to immunotherapy

Directors:

Catherine Sautès-Fridman, Université Paris Descartes, Paris, France
Wolf Fridman, Université Paris Descartes, Paris, France
Ennio Carbone, Università Magna Grecia, Catanzaro, Italy

Naples, 16 - 18 October, 2017

Church Santi Marcellino e Festo
Largo S. Marcellino, Napoli

After decades of frustration the 'use' of the immune system to cure us from within has come to age with the spectacular success of new cancer immunotherapies.

It could not be a better timing to discuss these themes in a former church given to the University of Naples in 1907.

Nadine Cerf-Bensussan (Paris, France) Host microbiota interactions across the gut immune System - Vincenzo Bronte (Verona, Italy) Immunosuppressive monocytes in cancer - Ennio Carbone (Catanzaro, Italy) NK cells and Cancer - Federica Cavallo (Turin, Italy) Vaccine DNA in vivo studies - Soldano Ferrone (Boston, MA, USA) MHC-I and Tumors - Catherine Sautès-Fridman (Paris, France) The tumor microenvironment architecture, from response to escape - Wolf Fridman (Paris, France) Tumor microenvironments: prognostic and theranostic impacts - Rolf Kiessling (Stockholm, Sweden) Development of novel T-cell and DC based therapies of malignant melanoma - Michele Maio (Siena, Italy) Epigenetic immunomodelling for cancer immunotherapy (NIBIT) - Alberto Mantovani (Milan, Italy) Tumor-associated macrophage- Lorenzo Moretta (Rome, Italy) NK cells in AML therapy - Zlatko Trajanoski (Graz, Austria) Computational methods for cancer immunology - Ugur Sahin (Mainz, Germany) Individualized cancer Immunotherapy; Understanding and tailored Treatment of Individual Cancer- Hergen Spits, Amsterdam, The Netherlands ILC and B cells in Cancer.

Fellowships available!!

Deadline to apply is postponed at 30 July 2017

For registration go to: <https://www.ceppellini.it/up-coming-courses>

Continuing Medical Education (CME) accreditation is pending

The Registration Fee €550,00 includes: all course material, lunches, coffee breaks, welcome buffet.

To register and apply for fellowship please visit the website: www.ceppellini.it

Local Organising Committee: Francesco Colucci, Francesca Di Rosa, Silvia Fontana-Zappacosta, Riccardo Zappacosta

For all information contact Organising secretariat : info@fuorirotaeventi.com tel +39 3494778948/+39 0835 1973821