

Michael Lander BAppMgmt. DipPol.

Director & Consultant

Eighteen years' experience working within New Zealand Police has provided me with a great deal of investigative experience across differing roles. Having qualified as a Detective in the Criminal Investigations Branch, combined with leadership roles across many serious and complex investigations through to High Court trials, I have gained experiences and credibility in the conduct of investigating a wide variety of human behaviours and actions.

Four years of national organisational leadership experiences, including the conduct of wider internal employment investigations including difficult Bullying and Harassment matters, have allowed me to focus and hone my investigative and consultancy skills in the employment field specifically.
