Shooting Stars: Well hello, happy families! The Shooting Stars had an excellent February and hope you did too. We had an awesome time learning about, listening to, and reading Fairy Tales. The Fairy Tale activities were tons of fun: we tried to feel a pea under a mattress like The Princess and the Pea, we ate poison apples for snack, made crowns to wear to be royal characters, and even told our own fairy tale stories!

After Fairy Tales we started to explore the wide wide world of emotions. It was fun and silly to express all sorts of emotions with our own faces, and quite a challenge to draw and express those feelings on paper. We explored emotion through art, music, and movement, and even played Feelings BINGO!

The outdoors has become a strange place in this transition from season to season, and it's very interesting to explore all of the different (and changing!) textures out there. I foresee lots of muddy days in our future...

Love,
Ms. Melinda and the Shooting Stars
