Selecting a school is a major decision. Base your choice on careful research and decide which school is right for you. After all, you will be spending a lot of time and money earning your degree. Some of your best sources of information are close at hand. High school counselors, college admission offices, a friend attending college, parents and relatives are great resources! Visit collegescorecard.ed.gov to compare schools side by side on factors like average annual cost, graduation rate and many more.

Some things to consider when choosing a school:

- ☐ Does it have the major I'm interested in?
- ☐ Do I want a small or large campus?
- ☐ Do I want to be close to home?
- ☐ What are the costs and average student debt?
- ☐ What is the student-to-professor ratio?
- ☐ What is the job placement rate?
- ☐ What is the school's graduation rate?
- ☐ Is the school accredited?

School expenses can vary depending on the campus you attend, the number of credits you take and your transportation and housing choices. The cost of attending college also is affected by your residency. Students who qualify as a state resident usually pay tuition at a substantially reduced rate compared to nonresidents.

These budgets are estimates for the 2017-2018 school year and are used for awarding financial aid. The information was furnished by each institution's financial aid office and is subject to change. Check with each financial aid office to determine your specific cost of attendance based on residency or reciprocity, course load and living arrangements since costs vary between students, even at the same institution. Students are encouraged to consider a variety of factors, including cost, before making a decision on which school to attend.

Totals do not include personal, recreational or miscellaneous costs which average approximately $3,400. Costs may be different for specialized programs. Contact the school for more information.
