

St. Dymphna Psychiatric Center - Consultation Day

February 13, 2016

As early as 7:30 A.M, OPD clients were already prepared for the consultation. While they wait for the opening of the activity, they were given a tasty meal to keep them up for the day's activity. With supervision of staff and Brothers of Charity, our stable residents were able to serve each of the OPD clients and their significant others. Orientations then made for us to start our day right and stays organize.

Consultation started at 8 o'clock in the morning. Everyone performed their individual tasks yet communicates as a team. During the activity, new clients disturbed or not are expected seen by our physician also with the whole team. It was a challenge for everyone to give attention to them as evidence with the manifestations they've demonstrated.

A minute break was observed then resumed afterwards catering the remaining OPD clients patiently waiting outside. Our residents also behave well and helps in some areas they're allowed to with supervision other vacant staff. The consultation then ended orderly with success. Aftercare initiated by the whole team with the residents.

The consultation resumed with a brief awareness done with our physician as early as 8 o'clock in the morning while the OPD clients and their significant others are waiting on the designated areas where they can wait for their names to be called. They attentively listened and actively raised queries in accordance to the knowledge shared to them. Satisfactorily, their queries were then attended with value and importance.

Our active staffs on duty were also active in performing their tasks as a team.

With proper communication and understanding, properly oriented by their label and scopes of limitations with accountability of each responsibility, a work with unity will end up with success. With each verbal evaluation, our consultations are becoming more organized than before.
