Hereby recognizes

Children's Health Day

Children's Health Day is an ongoing effort to promote good health, regular exercise, and a nutritious diet for all Colorado Children. Colorado's future depends on the good health and success of our children, and ensuring that all children in our State have knowledge of and access to adequate healthy food and safe places to exercise and play is essential to ending both malnutrition and obesity in Colorado's children, as well as increasing focus in the classroom. The members of the Colorado Senate are proud to recognize April 4, 2018 as "Children's Health Day" in Colorado, and thank the students of Indian Ridge Elementary School and the Living Closer Foundation for their hard work and contributions to the promotion of essential good health for Children across our State.
