Illuminated Myth Publishing Announces the Release of Revealing Hannah The Myth of Arachne

Chelmsford, MA, May 15, 2016 - Illuminated Myth Publishing is proud to announce Revealing Hannah The Myth of Arachne the second novel by author Laura Fedolfi available in bookstores and online on May 31st, 2016.

In Revealing Hannah The Myth of Arachne Hannah's life is right on course. Her job might appear to be a dusty exercise in tending antique texts, but it has secret parameters that would blow the mind of the average student at Whitfield University. And she has saved enough money to go on her very first trip out of the country, with her new friend, Gretchen. They scoured the internet for travel bargains and had pulled together a week-long cruise of the Grecian Isles. Sure, the cruise line was in chapter eleven and had advised them to bring their own drinking water, and yes, their airline was literally called "Fly By Night Air" with an address adjacent to Bradley Airport, but it was certain to be epic.

Except that her neighbor, John MacCallister, who has spent the last three months avoiding her even though she had thought they were friends, shows up just as she is closing the library with the news that Hermes and Lee are waiting for her back at the house. The Greek gods are in town and Hera is calling in her favor.

Despite all her careful planning Hannah will not make it to Greece, but the adventure that awaits her involves cursed amulets, kidnapped gods, murderous spiders and choices that challenge her idea of who she is and what she is capable of.

This is the second novel in the Revealing Hannah Series. When Laura isn't immersed in the crazy world of Greek gods in everyday life, she can be found helping others create their life stories through her work with Habitat for Humanity, her faith community and as founding member of the Society of Independent Publishers and Authors (SIPA.) She's on social media as Facebook.com/RevealingHannah and on Twitter @LauraFedolfi and loves hearing from her readers.
