Using Technology Safely:

What parents need to know

- Lisa Christensen is the library media specialist at Lowell. Lisa will share what your students are learning about being digital citizens and tools parents can use.
- Brian Pahl is a teacher on special assignment, responsible for implementing the 1:1 technology roll out. He will share the district's plan and what 1:1 will look like at each grade level.
- Jessica Raymond is the school counselor at Lowell. She will share information about child development, recommendations for technology use at different age groups, and facilitate a conversation about how best to support your child.

Lowell, Happy Valley, & Wade King Elementary schools, with the support of their PTAs, are each hosting a Parent Connect education night each year to bring together parents from the Southside area for learning and community-building.
