Dietrich T. Logan, AIA, NCARB – Senior Architect

Experience

Logan Design Group International is an architectural design firm with an established reputation for quality and excellence in commercial design. With more than 15 years of industry experience, owner and senior architect, Dietrich Logan manages each project using a proactive, client-focused approach from hand-drawn schematic drafts to confirmed construction blueprints. The LDG design team has experience in development planning, space planning, construction administration, and design reviewing for structures in excess of 50,000 square feet. Attention to detail and laser focus are hallmarks of the LDG design team.

The LDG design team makes the initial client meeting a priority, addresses questions and concerns immediately, and maintains a high level of interaction from the onset of a project. Through conducting contract negotiation, managing construction and contractor budgeting, and presenting structured research on sustainable and energy efficient building alternatives, the LDG design team effectively supports the efficient development of each project. Senior architect, Dietrich Logan, believes in bringing the collective knowledge of the LDG design team into every facet of a commercial project.
