New category in Singapore Prestige Brand Award to recognise micro enterprises

Singapore, 12 April 2016 – A new award category has been announced at the official launch of the Singapore Prestige Brand Award (SPBA). Jointly organised by the Association of Small & Medium Enterprises (ASME) and Lianhe Zaobao, the SPBA returns for its 15th year to honour local brands with compelling brand messages and strategies, as well as up-and-coming micro enterprises that have built their brands to significant prominence.

An excellent platform for brands to exhibit their capabilities and forge ahead in their business journeys, the SPBA has showcased over 370 unique homegrown brands since its inception. This year, the award is including micro brands as in the brand community. Despite their small and modest size, many micro brands possess the potential to be elevated to greater heights and hence, are deserving of the recognition. Micro brands are defined as brands that have been established for at least 3 years, with not more than 3 operating outlets and an annual turnover of not more than S$2 million.

“The mission of the SPBA is to search and recognise Singapore brands and help them grow their brand further. Many past winners have told us that they have benefitted from the learning points and the higher visibility gained from their participation in the award. For this reason, we are introducing a new award category called the SPBA - Micro Brands to encourage micro enterprises in our community who have embarked on their own branding journey to participate. The creation of this category is an acknowledgement that these micro brands are also invaluable contributors to our economy and have the potential to grow big. We hope to make the SPBA more inclusive, reach out to a wider audience and help to drive their branding success,” said Ms Chew Lee Ching, Chairman of SPBA 2016 Organising Committee.

One of the branding qualities that many past SPBA winners exemplify is resilience. Resilient brands are brands that are determined to succeed, brands that persevere against the odds and brands that are adaptable to market shifts and transformations. Over the years, the SPBA has seen several award recipients that have experienced the trials and tribulations of economic crises and emerged stronger. These resilient brands have a robust foundation and reliable branding core that have been essential for them to tide through numerous business challenges; some of these brands include Yeo's, Fotohub and FANCO, all brand leaders in their respective industries.

15 years, and going strong, the SPBA believes in recognising local brands of high branding calibre, determined through rounds of stringent judging. With 21 SPBA – Hall of Fame inductees and the number expected to grow, the award has remained relevant with the times and business trends, an exemplary testament of resilience that the SPBA strives to convey to all past winners and new participants.

“The SPBA is both an award and a brand in its own right. Not only is the SPBA a prestigious accolade, it is also an effective springboard for brands to chronicle their development and achievements. Since its inception until now, the SPBA is the award that affirms and reaffirms local brands and their branding, the yearly winners adding on to its enriching legacy, each and every brand a welcomed member of the SPBA family,” said Ms Goh Sin Hwee, Co-Chairman of SPBA 2016 Organising Committee.

For brands that are interested in joining the SPBA, the official launch is an effective introduction and orientation to the award process, as well as a useful channel to learn about the past winners' overall award experience.

“We are proud to have achieved the Overall Winner, SPBA - Promising Brand and the SPBA - Most Popular Promising Brand in 2015. The award journey challenged us to relook and refine our PEZZO branding and the accolades we received have been a great validation to both our young brand and business, and confidence to our partners as we start to bring our Pezzo's Slices to Masses to the region,” said Mr Chiang Zhan Xiang, founder and director of pizza chain outlet Pezzo.

For the fourth consecutive year, Maybank returns as the Official Bank of SPBA, committed to supporting local brands in their branding endeavours.

“While the future is uncertain, SMEs can take heart in the slew of initiatives being introduced by the government to transform local enterprises through innovation, increase in scale and internationalisation. In these tough times, Maybank is also committed to helping SMEs move to a stronger position. That is why Maybank is supporting the Singapore Prestige Brand Award for the fourth year running, to continue raising awareness among local businesses on the benefits of investing in their brand,” said Mr Choong Wai Hong, Head, Community Financial Services, Maybank Singapore.
