

MillerClapperton Named Top Workplace by Atlanta Journal-Constitution
*Company Recognized Third Year in a Row

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Austell, Georgia – March 5, 2018 – The Miller-Clapperton Partnership, Inc. (MillerClapperton), a national fabricator and regional installer of highly-engineered cladding systems, is pleased to announce its 2018 Top Workplace Award from the Atlanta Journal-Constitution (AJC). The annual program from the Southeast's largest daily newspaper recognizes the best companies in Atlanta based on anonymous employee surveys performed by Energage (formerly known as Quantum Workplace). MillerClapperton was named #59 in the small business category (with fewer than 150 employees).

According to the AJC, more than 2,300 companies were nominated in this year's competition with 150 total finalists. A total of 75 companies were named in the small business category, with MillerClapperton ranked #59 overall. This is the third year in a row that MillerClapperton has been recognized as a Top Workplace by the AJC. In 2017, the company ranked #51.

"We are very proud of our team at MillerClapperton and what we have accomplished over the past year," said Zeke Miller, President. "Our company continues to experience positive growth while hiring outstanding team members to meet that growth. We focus on our core values and pride ourselves on fostering a great company culture."

In the past year, MillerClapperton has also been ranked as a Top Specialty Contractor in the Southeast by Engineering News-Record and awarded the SUPERSTAR Award by the Construction Marketing Association for the weekly blog, Friday5.

"We feel honored to not only be recognized by our amazing team at MillerClapperton, but also by the AJC as a Top Workplace," added Zane S. Miller, Vice President. "This is important recognition for our company and as leaders in our industry, we are always pushing the envelope to be even better. We could not do that without the expertise and dedication of our team members."
