

Bio of Helen Karatasas

Helen is the Education Delivery Manager with the Workplace Gender Equality Agency. In her role, she manages the development and delivery of training and resources that help employers address gender equality in their workplace. Helen is dedicated to working with employers to create meaningful change.

Helen joined the Agency in November 2011. Prior to this, she spent over a decade as a senior lawyer in both the public sector and private practice, specialising in employment law and workplace relations. She holds a Bachelor of Laws and a Bachelor of Economics from the University of Sydney.