

Crown Jewels honours the wedding of Prince Harry and Ms Meghan Markle with heirloom-quality musical condoms

Crown Jewels of London, leading suppliers of heritage condoms, is proud to unveil a sumptuous new love sheath commemorating the wedding of Prince Harry to Ms Meghan Markle.

As befits a Royal Wedding, the master craftsmen at Crown Jewels have created a souvenir condom of unrivalled luxury. These artisan-style sheaths are tailored to a regal fit before being drizzled with lube and packed for freshness; they are truly condoms fit for a prince.

Presented in a handsome souvenir case, Crown Jewels has created a world first. As the lid is opened, lovers will be delighted by an exclusive musical arrangement of God Save the Queen and The Star Spangled Banner. Even the box is a work of art, featuring a commemorative portrait of the royal couple by acclaimed Romanian artist, Jacques Valentin.

Given the desirability of commemorative condoms and the risk of counterfeits, packs include a signed Certificate of Authenticity guaranteeing the item's provenance and authenticity.

Hugh Pomfret, spokesman for Crown Jewels Heritage Condoms, said of the launch:

"A royal wedding is a celebration of love, just like our luxurious sheaths. We proudly stand with our American cousins to toast the happy couple and say to lovers everywhere; your Prince will come."

Already, commemorative condoms for the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge are commanding auction prices in excess of £100. Crown Jewels condoms are therefore not simply a patriotic indulgence but a shrewd investment opportunity.

Condoms will be available exclusively from www.crownjewelscondoms.co.uk, priced £10.00.

EDITOR'S NOTES

- For more information and interview requests, contact Hugh Pomfret: hugh.pomfret@crownejewelscondoms.co.uk
- Crown Jewels Heritage Condoms is not approved or used by Prince Harry, Meghan Markle, HRH Queen Elizabeth II or any other member of the Royal Family.
- Customers can purchase their condoms exclusively from: www.crownjewelscondoms.co.uk
- Product photography and a 45 second video are available for use by contacting: press@crownejewelscondoms.co.uk

