Visit Reflection: “Our principals felt it was important to have each grade level meet with Cynthia independently, and that worked out very well. Cynthia was able to customize each presentation to each grade-level, telling the first graders for example about her favorite books from when she was in first grade. Students related well to her and seemed genuinely inspired by her talk. Several told her they wanted to be writers when they grew up. One even said, "I want to be just like you." Also, as we are a smaller school system that meant that each presentation was to a smaller group of students than Cynthia usually presents to. Many children had the chance to ask questions and make comments. Cynthia said how impressed she was with the groups.”
