Hillel to build Malcom Rosenberg Center for Jewish Student Life at Virginia Tech
—page 8
Hillel at Virginia Tech to build the Malcolm Rosenberg Center for Jewish Student Life

Time smacks behind the Virginia Tech OJT community as it commemorates the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Jewish Student Union on campus. The building, named after Herbert Rosenberg, is the first building to be constructed on campus in honor of the late Jewish community leader. The project is being funded by a $1 million donation from Hillel Tech, which has also announced that it will contribute $1 million to the project.

The project will be a state-of-the-art facility for Jewish students, featuring a student lounge, study area, and conference room. The building will also include a study lounge, a studio for musical performances, and a small library.

The project is scheduled to be completed by the fall of 2023. The dedication ceremony will be held on campus on November 14, 2023.

The project is being funded by a $1 million donation from Hillel Tech, which has also announced that it will contribute $1 million to the project.

The building will be a state-of-the-art facility for Jewish students, featuring a student lounge, study area, and conference room. The building will also include a study lounge, a studio for musical performances, and a small library.

The dedication ceremony will be held on campus on November 14, 2023.

The project is being funded by a $1 million donation from Hillel Tech, which has also announced that it will contribute $1 million to the project.

The building will be a state-of-the-art facility for Jewish students, featuring a student lounge, study area, and conference room. The building will also include a study lounge, a studio for musical performances, and a small library.

The dedication ceremony will be held on campus on November 14, 2023.

The project is being funded by a $1 million donation from Hillel Tech, which has also announced that it will contribute $1 million to the project.

The building will be a state-of-the-art facility for Jewish students, featuring a student lounge, study area, and conference room. The building will also include a study lounge, a studio for musical performances, and a small library.

The dedication ceremony will be held on campus on November 14, 2023.