

PASS THE LOVE STORY

PASS the Love
STORY

The Idea: Each guest gets their chance to exaggerate the "story" of how the couple met and fell in love.

Ground work: All you need is pen and paper for this one!

How to Play: The host starts it off by writing a line at the top of the piece of paper about how the couple met. For example, "Funke and Kola met at the office." She then passes the piece of paper to the next player, who writes a line to follow that one. Once that player writes their line, their job is to fold the paper over so that only their sentence is revealed to the next player. After everyone has contributed, the guest of honor should read the final piece aloud to the group.
