Our History

A family built business rooted in service, growth, and long term partnerships.

Fox Deluxe Foods was founded in 1998 by Sam Samano, who believed customers deserved better service and better product than what the market was offering. After working his way through every level of food distribution, Sam built Fox Deluxe Foods on a simple promise: move fast, work hard, and take care of customers. Starting from a small storefront in Chicago's Fulton Street meatpacking district, the company quickly earned a reputation for reliability and quality, driving steady Midwest growth. Through strategic acquisitions and continued expansion, Fox Deluxe Foods strengthened its supply chain and capabilities, ultimately moving into a state of the art USDA certified processing and distribution facility in Wheeling, Illinois. Still family owned and operated today, Fox Deluxe Foods remains committed to being a true partner to its customers.
