Story of Pigeon River and Martha

The headwaters of the Pigeon River are located at Sam Knob on Black Mountain, at an elevation of approximately 6130 feet. Sam Knob is 30 miles southwest of Asheville, North Carolina. The river flows from Sam Knob north to Canton where Evergreen Paper Products, Inc. is located on the Pigeon River. The river flows through the papermill at Canton and then along Interstate 40 for approximately 25 river miles to Waterville, and the Duke Energy Hydroelectric Dam.

The river takes its name from the Passenger Pigeon, an extinct bird whose migration route once included the river valley in North Carolina. The last Passenger Pigeon died at the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens in 1914. Her name was Martha, named after Martha Washington, the inaugural first lady of the United States. Today, Martha the Passenger Pigeon resides in taxidermized form at the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History.
