

Build Your Own Brand

Lamsquare invites you to a self-exploration program!

This is NOT about how to put yourself in the job market, but what you need to know before you do that. If you are in a work transition, if you just graduated from school, if you are getting ready for an interview or if you are not sure how to position yourself, this is for you. This is a mind-blowing experience where we use LEGO® Serious Play® as one of the tools to explore the true you – what you are good at, how you make it, and why you love it. This what-how-why actually builds you as your own brand.

We will work with you together in this program to:

1. Identify your brand – what do I know about myself?
2. Grow with your brand – how to align myself with my brand?
3. Be your brand – why would you want to hire me?

Are you ready to go build your own brand?
