

CHASING CORAL

Join us to view the film that The New York Times calls "An emotional race against time!" Chasing Coral takes viewers on a thrilling ocean adventure as a team of divers, photographers, and scientists set out to discover why reefs around the world are vanishing at an unprecedented rate and provides a look at this underwater world so few of us have the opportunity to see up close.

Please join us for a discussion following the screening with:

Mark Eakin, a Chief Scientific Advisor to the film.

A Film Night Presented by

The Climate Stewards of Greater Annapolis

Friday, October 13, 7:00 pm

Annapolis Friends Meetinghouse

351 Dubois Road, Annapolis, Maryland 21401

Free, All Are Welcome

Light Refreshments Served

RSVP at csgannapolis/chasing-coral