ment for this book are college, university and public libraries, as well as scholars of urbanization and spatial planning worldwide. In the absence of interest in development planning in Africa among undergraduates and in particular will appreciate Uwyung’s work.

R. A. Ohubor

The Cardinal Principles of Islam

Rahman I. Osi

Introduction to the Qur’an

Rahman I. Osi

Introduction to the Hadith

The aim of this collection of volumes is to provide an English speaking audience, particularly students at the secondary and tertiary levels, with an introduction to the literature in Islam which is presently written in Arabic. The book is an attempt to make accessible to the English speaking audience the literature on Islamic law, economics, history, politics, and other disciplines. The book is divided into four parts: the first three chapters discuss the fundamentals of Islam and its historical development in the Middle East. The last chapter is devoted to a general audience and is on four chapters: the methodology of Islamic law and the relationship of Islamic law to the Sharia.

Paul H. Thomas

Flower Foundation Library
St. Andrews University, Scotland.

Labour & Industrial Relations
International Labour Office, Job and Skills Programme for Africa
Labour and Employment in South Africa: A Strategic Response to an Economic Challenge

The objective of this project is to support the Republic of South Africa in its efforts to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of its labor market and to ensure the development of a more dynamic and competitive labor market. The project is planned to last for three years and is expected to result in the development of a comprehensive strategy for labor market development. The strategy will be based on a thorough analysis of the labor market and the economy, including the potential for growth and employment, and will be designed to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of the labor market. The strategy will be implemented through a combination of policies and programs aimed at improving the labor market and the economy. The project is expected to contribute significantly to the development of a more dynamic and competitive labor market.

Kenneth J. Perkins

History Department of University of North Carolina
Columbia, South Carolina, USA

in order to benefit the other persons involved in the nation as a whole. The most positive feature of this analysis is that it combines an overall general plan with a set of concrete proposals concerning development. The book, however, is recommended only for specialist audiences interested in African development.

Peter J. Schneider

Institute of International Studies
Columbia, South Carolina, USA

International Labour Office, Jobs and Skills Programme for Africa
Basic Needs Ministerial Conference
First Things First: Meeting the Basic Needs of the People of Nigeria

First Things First is an extremely broad and ambitious undertaking by the International Labour Organization’s ILO as a research project, on national data and advice to the Nigerian government on the basic human needs policies confronting Nigeria at the present and in the medium-term. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy. The research team’s objective is to expose possible policy changes to contribute to the Nigerian economy.

Wijdai C. Bailey

Department of Anthropology
University of Georgia
Atlanta, Georgia, USA

Languages & Literatures
Cultural Literacies
Codic Nije, 1982.

Rahman I. Osi

Description Synoptique du Wolof de Gambie

Cours Synoptique de l’Afrique de l’Ouest

The African Book Publishing Record
224

225

The African Book Publishing Record