A proud history of service and ingenuity.

In 1972, Jack "Harry" Tinkler, an electrical engineer, started a small company with the hope of making a difference in the industrial electrical market. This vision gave rise to Interstate Electrical Supply. Over the years, through uncommon perseverance and ingenuity, Interstate Electrical Supply steadily earned the trust of an ever-increasing number of industrial and commercial customers throughout the region. Today, we're known as Interstate Electrical, a bold, innovative and responsive leader in electrical distribution and automation.

Electrical Products

Interstate Electrical is a leading full-line distributor of electrical construction and MRO supplies. As a Premier Schneider Electric Partner providing a large inventory of quality products throughout our footprint, we are well-positioned to guickly and efficiently meet your most challenging project and repair needs. We deliver the absolute best in industry expertise, while providing the responsive service and flexibility of a locally owned and operated company. Our Customer Service Representatives are happy to assist you, and our in-house Project Specialists can offer design assistance for complex power and lighting solutions. We also will work hard to provide you with any product you need, when you need it because we understand your business moves quickly and downtime is expensive. We know how to handle the logistics to make sure you are operational as quickly as possible. Let us partner with you today.

Lighting Products

Nothing is changing more rapidly in the electrical industry than LED lighting. Our Lighting Specialists and Project Managers can help you stay ahead of the pace and make your LED project a successful and sustainable cost-savings endeavor! Our focus is to design lighting and control systems for your facility with your goals in mind - whether it's economy, aesthetics, or proper lighting levels, or all three! Today's lighting systems are gathering data and integrating with your facility in ways like never before. Let us be your guide.

Automation Products

Interstate Electrical began as an Automation and Controls company, and though we've grown into other markets, Automation remains at our core. We have on-site Engineers and Technicians who can help with every step of your Automation project - from the solution concept to the selection of components to the implementation and commissioning of your system. While we are Schneider specialists, our engineers are well-versed in all brands of motor control systems, programmable logic controllers, HMIs and other automation components. Plus, we carry a great selection of machine safety products and have the local expertise to help you apply them. Our goal is to assist our OEM, MRO, Integrator and Contractor partners with implementing the best solutions with every project.
