Dear <member's name>,

As a resident of South Australia, I am writing to urge you to please support the Bill for Decriminalisation of Sex Work that will shortly be debated in the Legislative Council. South Australia's current laws infringe on the human rights of sex workers to work in their chosen industry with the same legal protections & rights as everyone else.

Under the current criminalised model, it's impossible for sex workers to report to police if they've been assaulted or robbed on the job. This makes sex workers incredibly vulnerable, through no fault of their own. Male and female sex workers do important work with vulnerable members of the community who do not have access to intimacy and sexual expression like everyone else - for example, people with a physical disability, mental disability, those who are uncomfortable in social situations and those recently bereaved. Decriminalisation is supported by the World Health Organization (WHO) and Amnesty International and locally by the Law Society of SA in addition to women's groups such as the YWCA, the Working Women's Centre (WWC), Business and Professional Women (BPW) and Zonta International.

Like most industries, some sex workers enjoy their jobs while others do not. Some join the sex industry because they have few other options and for those who wish to leave the industry, often their criminal records prevent them from doing so. Decriminalisation and a clear criminal record will allow these men and women to find a different job they enjoy.

Please vote in support of decriminalisation of sex work in South Australia.

Yours sincerely,

<your name>
