Milan Fashion Campus was established by Angelo Russica. Milan Fashion Campus was founded to give students practical skills and knowledge of fashion in order to be prepared to launch successful careers. The fashion school's main objective is to expose students from all over the world to fashion from a Milanese professional perspective. There are many renowned schools around the world that teach students the fashion trade, but fail to prepare them for working in the actual fashion industry. The lack of “real world experience” often results in students finding themselves struggling to find work, despite having invested both time and money in their studies.

This is why Milan Fashion Campus focuses on short term courses allowing students to experience the real working world without spending excessive amounts of time and money.
The Fashion Master combines 3/4 different fashion design and fashion styling course to make sure you can achieve your goals in the fastest amount of time as possible. Choose the combination that better suits your needs.
