APPLICATION DEADLINE June 30, 2018

Being a leader can be a lonely position. However, the unique design of this program creates a state-wide network of leaders whereby trust and support will be readily available for all situations that you may experience. As this group meets and discusses different scenarios, it will become evident to you that we all deal with the same type of situations even though we may be miles apart. By facilitating this kind of professional development, PREPS, will help you make connections and share ideas. Leaders do learn by trial and fire. However, training designed to form bonds, initiate conversation on research and role play, truly does allow for significant support and growth in real time. Apply today! Enrollment is limited and based on application.
