

Lemongrass Bath Salts Labels

I have provided a page full of graduated sizes of labels, depending on the size of container you use.

Half of them have a lemongrass plant behind them for those who like photos; the other half are for you who prefer a more simple look.

These can be punched out with circle, square, or oval punches, or just sliced into a square. Scallop punches are fun too, for the main label or for the mat, mentioned next.

You can also put a larger mat behind your label for more color and an added effect.

I like to cover mine with tape, where possible, especially if it's going to be used more than once.

As the fonts got smaller, they were less able to be seen clearly and fully, so I did half of those smaller ones in bold, and left the other half as-is.
