Dear FICE members, supporters and friends,

We are happy and even proud to present to you the Annual report of FICE International for the year 2019. While living these unusual days of the Covid-19 pandemics, it is almost difficult to think that only a few month ago we lived our usual personal, professional and public life completely differently. However, this is the reality and we cannot escape it.

This report of FICE members in different parts of the world is a strong reminder, that there was life without the Corona virus...

The big and central FICE event in 2019 was the 34th World Congress of FICE in Tel Aviv, Israel in October 2019. More than 500 people from almost 40 countries came together to share knowledge and celebrate our commitment for children's rights all over. Naturally, this big and successful event receives an honorable place in this report. We wish to extend our thanks to FICE Israel team for the excellent realization of this very special event. However, there are also other important developments that are reflected in this report. One of them is the policy of FICE Executive Committee to strengthen the development of the FICE Regional Networks. The European Network, that was the first to reflect this policy, had gone through difficult times in the last years but hopefully will become again soon an important body for FICE European members. Meanwhile, the FICE Africa network is making a good progress. The decision to hold the next 35th FICE World Congress in Senegal, Africa, should hopefully be an impulse for further developments of the Africa Network.

FICE Brazil is the first National section in Latin America. We are looking forward to seeing other Latin America countries to join FICE International and integrate also in the regional network.

Our new FICE National section in Japan is reporting for the first time about their important activities. We do hope, this will be an opening in the future for the development of a FICE Asia regional network.

Another new member reporting for the first time is Himaya organization from Lebanon. Himaya is a Lebanese NGO, dedicated to making child protection a right across Lebanon especially in its refugee camps.

Unfortunately, FICE USA and our members in Canada are not present in this annual report. May be the Covid-19 pandemic is the reason. We are looking forward to see a report of FICE North America network in 2020.

This year we will start collecting the annual reports after the fall in order to enable all members to be ready with their reports on due time.

A big thank you to our Technical assistant Katerina Ivanova for her dedicated and creative work while designing and editing this FICE annual report 2019.

We do hope you will enjoy reading these reaches and large-scale activities in the 2019 report. These are mainly activities undertaken by FICE members for the sake of better future opportunities and well being for children and youth in need of out-of-home care around the world.

Sincerely yours

Prof. Emmanuel Grupper and Rolf Widmer

FICE INTERNATIONAL IN 2019

Continuous development despite turbulent times

Federal Council and professional seminar in Bucharest

Over 35 people from 18 countries took part in the Federal Council in Bucharest. The events took place from 10 to 13 April 2019. A professional seminar was held on 11 April at the Palace of Parliament of Romania on the topic "Services for children from disadvantaged areas and environments" while 12 and 13 were reserved for Federal Council meetings and meeting of the continental platforms of FICE.

The professional seminar was moderated by Gabriela Crețu – Senator, President of the European Affairs Committee and Vice President of FICE Romania. The topics covered a wide range of social services and projects for improving the wellbeing of children and youth from disadvantaged backgrounds – youth at risk, care leavers, unaccompanied minors, children from ethnic minorities, children from very poor or rural areas, children and youth with delinquent behavior, etc. Furthermore, some of the speakers presented interesting research results. The speakers in the professional seminar came from various professional backgrounds and had different experience, although they all possessed outstanding knowledge on the topic and presented various good practices and research on the seminar topic.

The Federal Council of FICE International took place on 12 - 13 April in the Yesterday hotel in Bucharest. The format of the Federal Council of FICE International was quite different from the usual Federal Councils, as it consisted of a broad discussion of the future of the organization. The usual pleasant and productive atmosphere could be felt again this time. FICE members were asked to work in smaller groups to discuss the current most important topics for national sections and FICE International. The topics of the future thematic and organizational developments of FICE were also brought to the discussion table.

Further, new developments were brought to the meeting - the use of online conferencing methods to include members who were unable to join the meeting. The experiment was generally successful, although more advanced technology should be used in future to ensure the valuable input of everyone who is interested in the meeting.

Federal Council and General Assembly in Ben Shemen Youth Village, Israel

On 28 October, FICE International carried out its General Assembly and Federal Council meeting in Ben Shemen Youth Village in Israel. A total of 30 participants from more than 15 countries took part.

According to the Statutes of the organization, the General Assembly meets once in 3 years

(together with the FICE Congresses) in order to elect a new president. Although, due to the insufficient number of candidacies, the General Assembly had to vote whether the current co-presidency of Rolf Widmer (Switzerland) and Emmanuel Grupper (Israel) would be continued for another year.

The members of the General Assembly voted for the joint presidency to be continued for one more year when an extraordinary General Assembly will meet to elect the next president of the organization.

The co-presidents presented their ideas for maintaining the stability of the organization in this one-year period and fostering the development of a new and modern organizational structure. In this regard, the co-presidents have promised to support the working group "Quo Vadis" that was started in the beginning of 2019 by a group of volunteers among FICE members.

Furthermore, the co-presidents will support the continuing development of the existing continental networks - FICE Europe and FICE Africa, as well as the consolidation of FICE North America and possibly the establishment of other regional platforms, for example in Latin America and Asia.

In terms of partnerships, FICE International will continue to work together with SOS Children's Villages International on several projects. SOS Children's Villages International and SOS Children's Villages Regional Office in Asia were represented at the FICE General Assembly and Federal Council.

A presentation of the next FICE Congress (Senegal, 2022) was carried out by Mr. Djibril Fall, president of FICE West Africa.

The Future of FICE working groups

At the FICE Federal Council meeting in Ben Shemen Youth Village in Israel FICE members collaborated in a workshop offered by Anna Schmid (FICE Switzerland) and Martine Tobé (FICE Netherlands) and to discuss potentials and ideas of development to lead FICE International successfully into the next years. The workshop was based on the earlier work of the "Quo Vadis Group" and was designed in collaboration with its other two members Merle Allsopp (FICE South Africa) and Susanna Hoikkala (formerly FICE Finland) and counted with excellent support and input from Katerina Ivanova and several FICE representatives who led subgroups in preparation for Israel. Discussions were most animated, the energy was strong, and there were important results.

The Group continues the collaboration and development until the next meeting. The goal is to have concrete next steps and, most importantly, persons who will together lead and run FICE in the next period of presidency which starts with the Extraordinary General Meeting in 2020.

34th FICE International Congress in Tel Aviv, Israel

Delegates from 35 countries who took part in our congress and each and every one of them have highly contributed to its success.

The Congress in Israel took place in the central Campus of the Ono Academic College near Tel Aviv. This is where the Congress Chair and FICE co-president, Emmanuel Grupper works as Deputy Dean of Humanities.

510 participants registered to the congress, and many of them presented pieces from their work or research, therefore the congress offered a rich and varied program prepared by the scientific committee headed by Prof. Shalhevet Attar-Schwartz, from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. The quality of presentations was good and the variety of countries participating gave the sessions a real flavor of international and intercultural exchanges.

There were also artistic presentations by young people living in different residential care settings in Israel. In the opening session, the philharmonic orchestra of the youth villages gave a short opening concert. A short video prepared by young people living in residential care gave the participants the flavor of being in care in Israel. During lunch break, a group of children from Ahava child and youth village gave a drum concert.

The second day has been dedicated to "care leavers". The highlight was a panel of Israeli care leavers who spoke about their own personal perspectives and their needs in this crucial transition process.

The Congress Gala was organized in the Hakfar Hayarok (green village) youth village. The children and youth living in this youth village had prepared a beautiful artistic program including a performance. First, their orchestra with 40 young musicians, and later a choir composed of small children together with adolescents that sang beautifully. The whole evening was monitored by young people from the International School. Congress Participants had also the opportunity to dance a little bit, so everybody went home happily after the dinner.

A panel of Israeli Welfare Ministry presented the new policy concerning out-of-home care they are trying to implement. In the closing ceremony, there were some artistic presentations by Ethiopian youth from Youth villages and students from the Music Faculty of Ono Academic College.

The FICE Award was officially granted to the Kenyan project "WEAVING THE SAFETY NET" by the Apollo Foundation. The purpose of the project is related to empowering mothers.

Friday Morning, after the formal program of the congress was over, field visits were offered to participants who chose to take part in them. One bus went to the direction of Jerusalem and visited residential care facilities in the neighborhood of Jerusalem. A second bus went to the North, visiting Ahava children's youth village (whose director is Yoav Apelbaum). On the way back they visited also the city of Haifa. A third Bus went to visit Shfeya youth village and the old city of Caesarea. All participants were very satisfied from these enriching and interesting visits.

FICE AUSTRIA IN 2019

Bettina Terp and Christian Posch, co-presidents

FICE Austria was founded as a formal association in Austria in 1968 and is an active member of FICE Europe and FICE International. The key objectives and activities of FICE Austria are outlined in the statutes (in German language) but including the following:

- (1) To defend, represent and promote the rights of children and young people, as defined in the United Nations Convention and in the official documents of the Council of Europe and the European Union, particularly the rights of children and young people who are most disadvantaged and vulnerable.
- (2) To further develop, secure and improve the quality of care for children in the family and the quality of educational help in the area of social education, particularly in the interest of children and young people who do not live in their families of origin (alternative care) or especially educational help and support are needed.
- (3) FICE Austria sees the child holistically with its biological / family background and its integration into the closer environment, into the social systems (kindergarten, school, etc.) and with all private and public support and support systems.
- (4) The association's activities are carried out in cooperation with all stakeholders involved in child and youth welfare for the benefit of children / young people, parents, specialists and the organizations and authorities involved. These activities are not

The Board has currently 10 active board members, including the two presidents of FICE Austria who are leading the organization. You can find more information at the webpage (in German): www.fice.at

The organization has 23 members. Five new members joined in the past year, both organizational and individual new members. In 2019 FICE Austria held a General Assembly meeting. It took place in May 2019. The key topic was the renewal of the Board of FICE Austria. A shared board presidency was set-up and some new board members were elected and joined the organization.

Projects and activities in 2019:

The FORUM project (Austria)

In 2019, FICE Austria continued with the implementation of the FORUM project (EU funded project). The FORUM project, which was implemented also in other European countries, aimed to develop foster care services for Unaccompanied Migrant Children in Europe. Too often the range of solutions in European States was and is limited to residential care without considering as a priority the best interest of the child.

Activities in the project included: 1) Advocacy at local, national and European level for foster care services development; 2) Transfer of specific knowledge from more experienced partners to the less experienced ones (with the establishment of interdisciplinary expert groups); and 3) Trainings based on existing knowledge and new tools. The implementation of the trainings were a focus in 2019 which was the last year of the project.

The Leaving Care Project - An Integrated Approach to Capacity Building of Professionals and Young People.

Under the international project led by SOS Children's Villages International, FICE Austria continued with the implementation of the EU-funded Leaving Care Project in 2019 (project ended in April 2020). In collaboration with 6 other international project partners in Bulgaria, Estonia, Hungary, Italy and Romania) this project aimed to train care professionals on how to apply a child rights-based approach in their work with young people leaving care and works to strengthen support networks for young care leavers.

The activities of the project were planned and based on findings from the Prepare for Leaving Care project (2017-2018) and included:

- a) Set-up of a National Project Steering Group;
- b) Set-up of youth participation processes and a National Youth Expert Group
- c) Delivery of national care leaver trainings for care professionals;
- d) Delivery of trainings for master trainers (in order to ensure project sustainability).

In 2019, FICE Austria mainly focused on the implementation of the Leaving Care trainings that were organized in different Austrian regions together with active FICE partner organizations. In June 2019, FICE Austria participated in and contributed to the European Leaving Care Conference "Be the Change" which took place in Bucharest, Romania and brought together policymakers, practitioners, and professionals to strategize and exchange on good practices. Also, preparation started for the formal establishment of the first Care Leaver association in Austria (with was then officially founded in 2020). More (English) information about the Leaving Care Project can be found here.

International Careleaving Dialogue Austria

The EU project "CareLeaving Dialog" is an Erasmus+ project in the category "Structured Dialogue".

The leading organization was FICE Austria, project partners were the BJV; Federal Youth Council - Coordination Office for Youth Dialogue and the DÖJ, umbrella organization of Austrian child and youth welfare institutions.

In this project adolescent and young adult "Care Leavers" were empowered to evaluate their own situation, opinions and wishes with regard to their transition into a socially and professionally integrated and independent life.

Based on the needs and the necessary support, the young people develop proposals for solutions and demands and discussed these in direct dialogue with experts and political decision-makers.

The dialogue process was prepared and organized with the Care Leavers at state and federal level.

In the 1st part there were three participation workshops held in Innsbruck, Klagenfurt and Tulln. Afterwards the County dialogues took place and in the "result-workshop", the experiences were collected and nine universal demands to the government as well as a brochure for the presentation of these were elaborated.

At the final conference of the project, the Care Leavers were once again able to enter into dialogue with the relevant decision-makers from politics and the professional world with their concrete demands and suggestions.

In addition, experts and care leavers from Germany and the Netherlands were invited to present and discuss best practices from the EU region.

Additionally, the young people took part in a Media-Workshop and created poems and took photos to reflect their situation and demands, which were exhibited in the House of the European Union and shown to the politicians and participants during conference.

Care Leaver meeting as part of the Leaving Care Project

Conference, part of the CareLeaving Dialog project

FICE Austria's biggest achievement in the year 2019 was the finalization and presentation of the Quality Standards for professional Out-of Home Care of Children and Youth in Austria.

Since 2017, FICE Austria has initiated a cooperative process for the development of quality standards for professional alternative care settings in Austria and 19 child and youth care organizations actively participated. In May 2019, the final 66 quality standards were presented to a professional audience, accompanied by a press conference and public media coverage.

The standards were printed in a book format and were distributed across Austria. During the second half of 2019, regional roundtables and events were organized by local organizations in partnership with FICE Austria in order to discuss and promote the implementation of the 66 quality standards in Austria. The process is ongoing in 2020 and efforts are done to set-up professional trainings.

The project was funded by the Fonds Gesundes Österreich. The handbook "Quality Standards for professional Out-of Home Care of Children and Youth in Austria" (currently available in German only) can be ordered at office@fice.at More information: www.fice.at

FICE BRAZIL IN 2019 (NECA BRASIL AND THE NATIONAL MOVEMENT FOR FAMILY AND COMMUNITY LIVING RIGHT)

Isa Guará and Patrick Reason, presidents

The Brazilian National Movement for Family and Community Living Rights has a Steering Group of 10 institutions (2 per macro region) and approximately 60 member organizations across Brazil. In 2018 the decision was made to associate the Brazilian National Movement with the FICE International Representative in Brazil, the Institution NECA, to form FICE Brasil.

NECA - Association of Researchers from the Centers for Studies and Research on Children and Adolescents, founded in 2005 and based in southeastern Brazil in São Paulo, is a group that offers training, develops projects, research and consultancy, and also promotes seminars and conferences on the rights of the child and care methodologies.

The National Movement for Family and Community Living Rights is a result of a sustained process headed up by a number of NGOs that led to the publication of the Brazilian National Plan for Family and Community Living Rights in 2006. The Movement works in two fronts: Technical Incidence and Political Incidence.

In 2019 FICE Brasil promoted 4 of a total of 10 2-day workshops in Sao Paulo, Campinas, Curitiba and Palmas-Tocantins as well as promoting the VI Annual Quality in Alternative Care Seminar with approximately 300 participants.

FICE Brazil works to improve the capacity of professionals in the fields of law courts, social services, governmental and NGO run institutions and programs across Brazil for the promotion of family and community living rights for children in three areas: prevention, alternative care practice and child centers, adoption. In 2019, the Movement, as a member of FICE Brasil, promoted four out of a total of ten two-day workshops in São Paulo, Campinas, Curitiba and Palmas-Tocantins. In 2019, NECA held three seminars: 1- III Seminar on Social Work with Families, 2- VI Seminar on Quality of Alternative Care and 3- II Seminar on Social Education for adolescents involved in offenses. In total, more than 500 participants attended these events. In its courses and advisory services, the NECA reached social protection professionals in 2019 in more than 50 municipalities.

In 2019 the organization did not hold a General Assembly meeting. 4 Regional meetings were the only possibility in 2019 due to financial restraints and the vast territory. The FICE Brasil Steering Committee met online and discussed the need to continue to feed the website with material translated from English into Portuguese, promoting knowledge sharing and visibility of FICE International. The decision to search for funding for work towards a Care leavers' Association was agreed.

Due to the effective campaign "Family and Community Living - A National Priority" Federal Government commenced a national revision of Alternative Care Policy in Brazil in a strategic partnership with FICE Brasil. At the 34th FICE International Congress in Tel Aviv-Israel, Patrick Reason was able to represent Brazil, in the absence of the presence of the FICE BRASIL coordinator. The theme chosen by FICE-INTER as strategic for the international debate - Care leavers - will be the subject of an action by FICE Brasil for debate.

At the VI Annual Seminar on Quality in Alternative Care, coordinated by the associate Dayse Bernardi, there was a panel on adolescents who leave child and youth care services. Amongst the many stories there were two of particular note.

- A young woman who currently lives with her mother after several years in institutional care, visited her mother when she was in prison. At the time, his mother revealed that she was the only person to receive visits from her children among the female population in prison. Mother and daughter spoke of the value of this contact and the possibility of staying together after the mother served her time in prison.
- An elderly caregiver spoke of his traumatic experience when he was forcibly removed from his parents as a child by the police. He spoke of his complete lack of understanding of what was happening and why it was happening, highlighting the humiliating experience of being chased by the police to be taken from his parents.

On the program of the VI Seminar on Quality of Alternative Care, there were many topics of interest for FICE members, among which:

1- Issues of generation, gender and race/ethnicity in child and youth care services. Gender issues and violence in social protection services. The experience of motherhood in adolescence lived by young people placed in child and youth care services. Ethnic-racial issue in everyday institutional care

2- Leaving care and autonomy: challenges and proposals. "And now Joseph and Mary?" The meeting with the (civil) society after a Life in Institutional Care. Social pedagogy and autonomy. Networking experience of Affective Sponsorship as emotional support for young people without family support

3- Adolescents on the streets and in compliance with socio-educational measures in child and youth care services. Street Children and Adolescents: the fragmented view of policies for this subject of rights. Methodological subsidies for the care of Street Children and Adolescents in reception services. The Individual Assistance Plan (PIA) for Adolescents in Reception Services and for young graduates. Adolescents fulfilling socio-educational and protective measures. An important aspect of this Seminar was the preparation, participation and seminar exhibition of adolescents and young people attended by the Observatory of Violence in Sapopemba (a large neighborhood in São Paulo) who live in a residential care services.

FICE FINLAND/CENTRAL UNION FOR CHILD WELFARE (CUCW) IN 2019

Professor Pentti Arajärvi, Chairman of the Board

The Central Union for Child Welfare, founded in 1937, is a central organisation that works as an active and uniting force in matters relating to children's rights on a national and European level. The CUCW's supreme decision-making body is the General Assembly, held twice a year. It elects board members and a chairman and approves the annual report, operational plan, budget and financial statement.

The board consists of the chairman and 12 members. Each member has a personal deputy. The board manages, monitors and develops organisational matters together with the executive committee which consists of the chairman of the board, one of the deputy chairmen and two board members. The executive committee prepares matters for the board and supports the work of the office, work groups and advisory boards. The responsibilities of the meeting, the board and the executive committee are stated in the rules.

The organization has a total of 137 members. Two new members joined CUCW in 2019.

Biggest achievements in 2019

- CUCW has been actively promoting the development of Child's rights-based Child strategy in Finland. During 2019 Prime Minister Sanna Marin's government (and former Prime Minister Antti Rinne) has committed to developing a national strategy for children, based on the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.
- Non-Violent Childhoods - Action Plan for the Prevention of Violence against Children 2020-2025. The action plan was published and implemented by Ministry of Social Affairs and Health. The objective of the action plan on Non-Violent Childhoods 2020-2025 is to prevent violence against children aged 0-17 in different growth and operating environments. The action plan deals with the rights of the child, inclusion, factors that protect against violence as well as risk factors and their consequences. The aim is to improve the position of the child victim in the current service, care and crime systems, also taking into account those children who are at risk of ending up using or have already used violence. Read more
- CUCW has been actively promoting the raising of the age limit for aftercare services from 21 to 25 years. In 2019 together with partners CUCW proceeded with a statement to support the important changes. The Finnish government accepted the proposal and the age limit for the completion of aftercare raised from 21 to 25 on 1.1.2020.
- The European Committee of Social Rights has ruled on a complaint filed by the CUCW in 2016 on the limitation of subjective right to early childhood education made by the former prime minister Sipilä's government. In its decision, the Committee on Social Rights emphasizes that high-quality early childhood education contributes to the well-being of the child and to equal opportunities in children's lives. The Finnish government's austerity measures were targeted at groups that are otherwise vulnerable. The change violated the rights of the unemployed and children of persons on maternity, paternity or parental leave and placed families in an unequal position. Current Minister Marin's government have canceled the limitation before the Committee's decision.

Most important activities in 2019:

- Two main national seminars gathered altogether about 1700 participants. As part of them, CUCW organized workshops for young people and experts by experience as well as two experience libraries in which young experts by experience were borrowable books.
- Held other national and international seminars and trainings on various issues related to child and family policy and child welfare together with other NGOs, public authorities and other networks. Coordination programs organized seminars and network meetings.
- Took part in "Child budgeting in Finland - a roadmap to implementation of the Rights of the Child in the budgetary process" -report. The report will be published in spring 2020. The report was carried out as part of the Finnish Government's research program and its purpose was to find out:
 - 1) International and national examples of child budgeting and population-based budgeting
 - 2) what results have been achieved so far in child budgeting and population-based budgeting and how the examples can be applied as part of the Finnish budgeting process

3) what kind of child budgeting tools can be modeled on the basis of examples

4) how municipal, provincial and state actors can be supported in the implementation of child budgeting

5) how budget analysis for services for children, young people and families enables successful and efficient services at the interface between the municipality and the province.

- Coordinated two grant programmes funded by STEA (Funding Centre for Social Welfare and Health Organisations):

1) Coordination programme Kaikille eväät elämään ("Opportunities in life for everyone", 2017–2020) includes 23 programmes of NGOs working with children and families. The aim is to promote equal opportunities for children and families, to reduce inequality and to prevent over generational exclusion.

2) Perheet keskiöön! ("Families to the centre!", 2018–2020) is a coordination programme for 54 NGOs. It aims to link the support activities and services organized by NGOs to the family centres around the country. The programme supports local development work with six NGO county agents.

- CUCW coordinated the national network on the communication of children's rights. The main responsibilities of this network include the compilation of up-to-date information about children's right on the www.lapsenoikeudet.fi website, coordination of communications regarding children's rights, sharing knowledge of children's rights through campaigns as well as planning and organising the Children's Rights Week events.
- Coordinated and consulted a project in Karelia, Russian Federation funded by Vahvelainen foundation. The aim of the project was to develop a family work concept to support families at an early stage. The goal was also to proceed with the school health enquiry to cover all the pupils from 8th and 9th grades in Petrozavodsk district schools.

HIGHLIGHTS

CUCW has issued a book “I can make it through this day” (edit. Elina Hirvonen & Juuli Hurskainen) written by the young people that have been placed into out of home care. In the book they share their stories and experiences about the child protection system. The texts were created in workshops organized by the CUCW.

FICE GERMANY/IGFH IN 2019

Petra Hiller (vice chairman), Josef Koch (manager)

The IGfH (Internationale Gesellschaft für erzieherische Hilfen) is the German national section of FICE (Fédération Internationale des Communautés Éducatives). The IGfH is a lobby for the rights and needs of young people in public care. The organization is not oriented towards parties, politics, nor religion. Private persons, administrations, and educational institutions can apply for membership. The organizational approach of IGfH is to bring together various professionals, researchers and care receiving children, young adults, parents and families themselves to discuss issues regardless of status and institutional interests. The association's intention is to find solutions and to initiate innovations in the field of child and youth care which are in the interest and according to the needs of children and youth.

The goals of the organization are:

- to bring the conditions and needs of young people in public education into consideration,
- to accept the needs of children and their families without questioning them,
- to accept various lifestyles and arrangements of individuals or groups and not to force them to one educational norm,
- to find flexible and various solutions for children's needs,
- to support family education without supporting it as the only accepted setting,
- to develop and support educative communities,
- to support democratic structures in the area of child and youth care,
- to support the network of professional social work and self-help groups.

The IGfH is also a platform for professionals, researchers and social workers in the field. FICE Germany organizes seminars, conferences and educational trips, publishes books and a magazine ("Forum Erziehungshilfen") and is often involved in political lobbying. There are different ways to get involved in the organization:

Topic oriented groups: These groups meet twice a year and work constantly on issues in specific fields such as girls' and young womens' education, day care, foster care, residential care, ambulant services and community-orientated, social-spatial flexible forms of care. The topic orientated groups organize seminars, publish articles and do lobbying for their specific field.

Regional groups: With regards to topics and working fields, these groups are thematically diverse and consist of interested members who want to discuss regionally specific issues with colleagues. The regional groups are clustered among federal states and metropolitan areas in Germany.

Delegates: Members can be elected by the General Assembly. The meeting of the delegates which is held twice a year decides on the activities of IGfH.

Managing Committee: Members of the managing committee are elected by the delegates. They are responsible that the working programme is realized.

Most important activities in 2019:

Care Leaver Projects: Well supported into adulthood. Transition management during and after residential care. Development & transfer (2016 – 2019)

In Europe and ‘western’ societies most young people leave care between 16-18 years of age, although there is a large variation. In comparison to young people in the general population, most young people leave care at a younger age and have to cope with major changes in their lives in a far shorter time. Their journey to adulthood is more accelerated and compressed. The pathway from care to adulthood is also less supported and more linear – where as in the general population most young people ‘yo-yo’ between birth families and independence.

Against this background, IGfH has launched three consecutive projects on the subject of Leaving Care in the German context. Based on a cooperation with the University of Hildesheim starting in 2014, all three projects have been focusing on the situation, demands and needs of Care Leavers when being in transition from residential or foster care into adulthood.

While Project I (2012-2014) dealt with the question of „What happens after out of home care?“ and Project II (2014 - 2016) tried to shed light on the aspect of „Rights in the Transition Process - support and participation of Care Leavers“, Project III – which was concluded in 2019 – shed a light on transition management into adulthood and aimed at developing professional concepts and reliable structures of transition to supporting young adults when leaving care.

Project III evaluated professional practices and approaches of accompanying young people into adulthood and tried to identify practices which have been marked as helpful - or successful. Through a comparison of professional practices in three different German cities, the first step was to consolidate and evaluate already existing professional ways of support for Care Leavers. Based on that, the overall-aim was to improve professional concepts and practical approaches of guiding and structuring transitions and to promote the implementation of an inclusive transition management into professional support, planning and case management.

This also implied to support networks and platforms of self-organizations for Care Leavers, to promote Care Leaver associations and to facilitate socially supportive infrastructures for young adults beyond the youth care system.

Previous results and advanced professional conceptions have been already presented, discussed and reflected at a final symposium in Berlin which took place end of March 2019.

These results were then transferred into practice-oriented guidelines and examples for an inclusive transition management.

Dialogue Forum "Foster(Child)Care"

In 2012 approximately 50 of 10.000 children and adolescents under the age of 21 lived in full-time foster care. During the years 2008-2012, the provision of full-time services in the field of foster care grew by 20%

Along with this gain came manifold initiatives to conceptually and professionally advance the sector of foster care. Against this background, IGfH organizes and hosts the Dialogue Forum "Foster(Child)Care" which is a discussion platform to for experience and knowledge exchange including professionals, experts, social scientists and former clients. Running since 2015, the forum is supported by the German federal ministry of family affairs, senior citizens, women and youth. The aim is to identify professional and legal development needs based on the clients' perspectives and other cross-cutting topics to improve qualification of professionals, to raise quality and to further develop foster care for children and their families in the German context.

Furthermore, in 2019, the dialogue forum has published a diverse sample of practice-orientated brochures, recommendations, guidelines and professional statements. Here, a special focus has been put on cross-cutting topics such as migration, unaccompanied minor refugees, children and adolescents with disabilities, Leaving Care and transitions into adulthood, guardianship and participation/cooperation with birth parents in the context of foster care.

Biggest achievements in 2019:Governmental reformation process of the German child and youth care act - Comments, Positions and Statements on several topics of the draft law

IGfH was involved in a very complex governmental reformation process of the German child and youth care act which involves issues such as leaving care, inclusion, child protection and flexible, community-orientated forms of care. To do so, IGfH bundled up all their statements and positions concerning these issues and results from their projects, cooperated with all their members and topic oriented working groups and self-organizations to bring their perspectives in the interest of the children affected into the draft act. The goal is to reach an inclusive act for all children and families and a broader understanding of inclusion which also takes migration, asylum-seeking, socio-structural barriers, poverty and inequality into account.

Future Forum on residential care

The future forum on residential care is a federal discussion platform to consolidate current developments in residential care, examine professional and socio-political discourses on residential care and to suggest advancements and requirements in the field of residential care with regards to its future. Starting in 2019, the initiative is supported by the German Federal Ministry for Family Affairs, Senior Citizens, Women and Youth while being organized and presented by IGfH.

Why is there a need for a future forum on residential care? Different forms of residential care and other ways of out-of-home care referring to § 34 SGB VIII (German child and youth care act) can be regarded as one of the most intensive forms of socio-pedagogical interventions in the life-course of young persons and their families in the field of educational support.

This implies a special responsibility for the legislature, society and professional actors to constantly reflect and to openly discuss the question what residential care is able to provide for children and youth with regards to their current and future needs.

It is noticeable that past and current discussions in the field of residential care are dominated by conceptual unclarities and professional uncertainties and that debates of modernizing the German family care system (e.g. through community oriented work, systemic approaches, participation) are only rarely/slowly transferred and practically implemented in the field of residential care.

The future forum on residential care aims at providing a discursive framework or space to identify core structural characteristics and development needs in the field of residential care and to discuss ideas for alternative and resourceful advancements - always based on experts', professionals' and clients' diverse perspectives which are united in different formats such as participatory workshops, expert-rounds and hearings with addressees.

Important statements and positions regarding the situation, accommodation of and care for unaccompanied young minors/refugees with critical positions against the government's migration policies were also developed by IGfH as well as statements and legal claims with care leaver self-organizations to abolish or diminish the financial contributions for young adults with an income after having received care.

NENESZ, HUNGARY IN 2019

Edina Anna Szántó, President

Within the framework of the activities of the NENESZ association, it is intended to give children and their companions living cross-border and cross-border child protection care the opportunity to spend their free time usefully, overcoming difficulties due to geographical conditions and watching theatrical performances and productions that will represent values in their lives and development in the long run.

In the domestic target group of the NENESZ association, out of nearly 24,000 children in child protection specialist care, there are 89%, 21,400 minor children and 11%, 2,500 young people with aftercare, under the age of 24, who are still studying. For two-thirds of minor children, the NENESZ association provides programs through the foster parent network, considering that most of the children under 12 live in foster care. The other children, especially those over the age of 12, are brought up in children's homes and residential homes. In connection with the programs the Association maintains contact with them through the heads of institutions and educators.

NENESZ association, is the only organization that aims to help, nurture and improve the lives of children in child protection care, while providing social and child protection professionals with professional workshops, organizes trainings, crisis management and mediation, further develops and disseminates the achieved professional results through international cooperation.

Cultural flowers - Education through culture

The NENESZ association implements its cultural activities and cultural education series in accordance with the specifics of the target group of the person concerned. For children and youngsters, people's lives, everyday experiences and behavior are largely determined by the circumstances that culture provides for them. The upbringing and care of growing children is present in all cultures, however, the form in which upbringing takes place, the child's place in the community, depends to a large extent on the culture, generally accepted norms and values of the given group.

Transmission and reception of pedagogical value, the purpose and essence of education through theater

Education with theater involves many elements, it is a very complex process. On the one hand, it is a creative process when professionals create a performance with children - for pedagogical purposes. On the other hand, watching the lecture and meeting all its mediators is an educational tool. The tools and media that appear in the educational process are the actor, the director, the play itself, the value-accepting spectator, who can also be a player as a participant in the creative process. Whether the child participates in the theater as a participant in the process or as a spectator, value creation, value transfer and acceptance take place in both cases. The value of the educational process is the pedagogical value itself.

Culture - Theater - Children's Home

Within theatrical culture, a child can learn many things, as there are rules for theatrical appearance and behavior. This way, they also learn etiquette, dress and behavior culture while having “fun”. Through theatrical performances, they receive values that they did not receive before or did not receive enough. In many cases, children, placed in orphanages, have not received in their biological family, the kind of education that a theater requires during their socialization. After mastering theatrical behavior, integration into society also becomes easier for the child, as his or her knowledge expands, both through the play of the theater and by learning the “rules” of conduct. Children's interests are also expanding.

Education through culture implemented by the NENESZ association

During the programs, NENESZ managed to help more than 3,000 children and their companions to go to theatrical performances from many parts of the country. They also came from disadvantaged areas from which, without this opportunity, they would almost certainly not have reached performances in the capital.

Taking into account the fact that 15,000 children live in state-run institutions in specialized child protection care (0-24 years old), NENESZ was able to reach to more than 3,500 children under the NENESZ “Education for Culture in the Child Protection Sector and Social Area” program, more as 20% (in terms of total staff), it can be stated that the program was successfully completed in 2019 as well. NENESZ would like to continue the Cultural Flowers program series in 2020 and, of course, in the years that follow.

A taste of the cultural programs of NENESZ

In primary school age, theater groups were given the opportunity to present their productions at the József Attila Theater.

It was the first of the theaters in the capital to launch the Feast of Adams and Eves for the first time in the 2014/2015 season. The NENESZ association joined the program series for the third time.

March 2019

In 2019, the unforgettable March Flowers program series was held for the 8th time for children living in child protection care in Budapest, which provided free cultural and leisure program opportunities for children in March. By joining the initiative, children living without their families were supported by cultural institutions as well as public and private actors. The primary goal of the event was to strengthen social responsibility in the field of child protection.

March 21, 2019

On the occasion of World Down Syndrome Day, a sensitizing program was organized by the NENESZ and the Association for Jászszentlászló with the participants of the Rainbow Camp at the Faculty of Teacher Training of János Neumann University. Faculty students and prospective educators were able to gain insight into the everyday difficulties experienced by people with Down syndrome through a variety of training exercises. The goal of the program was to learn to live, collaborate and love together with Down Syndrome people. Sensitization exercises were realized, through which participants could step in the shoes of a person with Down syndrome. Nearly 120 participants attended the event.

March 25, 2019

IX. Budapest Child Protection Day at the Budapest Zoo and Botanical Garden, which takes place on the last Monday in March each year. As part of this, based on the practice of recent years, a cultural program awaited the children, and then the young people could participate in an interactive animal show. 150 children took part in the morning program, but more than 400 children and young people arrived at the Zoo free of charge in our organization. March 26, 2019 Film screening premiere with Hungaricom March 27, 2019 Feast of Adam and Eve at the József Attila Theater The goal of the program was to introduce the primary and secondary school age group into theater - this time, however, not only as spectators but also as creators. The love of theater, working together, thinking together helps the process, the primary purpose of which is for students to try being on stage. Applicant school groups each year learn, try, and then perform a "piece" that they prepared for themselves. In addition to each team and its leading educator, the Theater provides professional help and a mentor, who is a well-known actor and helps with the preparation.

V. NENESZ Christmas Eve at the József Attila Theater. The Christmas Eve event is traditionally held every year at the József Attila Theater. The children were able to enjoy the story of Krisztián Sárkányölő in an interactive performance, which aroused great enthusiasm among them. After the performance, we waited for the kids with delicacies, while the balloon clown dazzled them with all sorts of surprising balloon animals. At the end of the event, all the children left with a gift package.

Sport for children - Programs for sport

The use of sporting events, sports camps and leisure time provide security, continuity and nurturing talent for children and young people growing up in child protection. In 2019, several sports camps were organized. The locations were determined by the possibilities of providing football and water sports, as well as the number of children participating in the camp: in Pest county (Délegyháza, Kistarcsa), Somogy county (Balatonszárszó), Borsod-Abaúj-Zemplén county (Kazincbarcika), Bács-Kiskun county (Kiskunmajsa) and Szabolcs-Szatmár-Bereg county (Szatmárcseke). The camps took place in 4- 7 day shifts. The daily programs consisted of a lot of movement, morning gymnastics, technical training, preferably water programs, but the kids loved craft classes and skill games. Additionally they couldn't miss the daily football matches and the exciting evening number wars either. In the evenings, stewing, frying bacon and singing together led the sporty workouts around the fire.

At the initiative of NENESZ, jointly organized with MTK, September 27-29, 2019, 40 young people living in child protection care were able to spend three days in Délegyháza. The children were led by professionals, led by Gábor Pölöskei, a former football team, and the young people took part in professional trainings.

In December 2019, the NENESZ association and MTK signed a cooperation agreement, with the main objective to support children without families and to nurture talent through football.

October 16, 2019 - I. Sports for Children Soccer Cup

The UTE Athletics Stadium hosted the 1st Sports Cup with Sport for Children on 16 October 2019. At the initiative of NENESZ, five teams competed in the competition, which was created with the help of UTE's organizational director, Árpád Trakperger. The national team of children in care, MTK, UTE, the BKSZC (students of the Budapest Complex Vocational Training Center) and the National Team of Actors competed. During this time, the children acquired competencies that added a lot to the development of their personality.

October 2019 - MTK home matches

Thanks to the MTK management, the children were able to attend MTK's domestic matches and cup matches from week to week. They could get to know the newly rebuilt stadium and feel the fan atmosphere. Personal acquaintances (children met NB 2 footballers at the football cup) further deepened children's passion for football. In addition to creative and rewarding sports and leisure, it is important to emphasize that the competencies acquired on such occasions also have a positive impact in other areas of life. Such learned behaviors, perseverance and discipline; the development and maintenance of team dynamics, the birth of co-thinking, and the maintenance of diligence and motivation are especially important in the case of young people growing up in children's homes.

November 2019 Sport for children Soccer Camp - Kiskunmajsa

The 3-day training camp was implemented with the participation of the leading coaches of MTK Budapest. In addition to the many trainings held by the selected Hungarian football coach Gábor Pölöskei, the children had the opportunity to "military training" at the cadet course of the Pál Tomori Catholic Grammar School in Kiskunmajsa, take part in a bathing program at the Jonathermál Bath, watch movies and evaluate them, and About thoughts related to All Saints and the Dead. At the end of the camp, they compared their knowledge with the students of the local school in a friendly match.

Those interested could get help with a career orientation topic, and with the help of our partner, the Budapest Complex Vocational Training Center, there was also a big discussion about the treatment of children with SEN. At the exhibition, NENESZ conducted a questionnaire among young people about Internet use and Internet addiction.

The aim of the research was to get a more accurate picture of Internet addiction and its complex background, consequences and use of the Internet in the case of high school students, as well as among teachers, with the help of a questionnaire survey. 6000 research papers were prepared with the support of NENESZ.

Participation in international activities

Creating Futures

The NENESZ association has been working in cooperation with Dr. Katharina Schmid Anna, a management and social policy researcher, for years. Together they implemented a collaborative project between child and youth care homes in Switzerland and Hungary called "Creating futures".

A "Young expert exchange" program was implemented in Hungary. Its aim was to increase the chances that children will be able to fully integrate into the society. At the heart of this goal is the decision of children and young adults. To take their lives in their hands and take responsibility for their lives. The exchange program was implemented in collaboration with NENESZ with the future vision that the program could help thousands of young adults growing up in child protection to be able to dream and achieve their goals. Children's and youth homes in Switzerland and Hungary (Cseppkő and Mátészalka), as well as the Faculty of Law of the University of Pécs, FICE Switzerland and FICE International and the NENESZ Association have launched a joint project to promote innovation.

Director: Yoav Appelboim

A., now 17 years old. His family's background is extremely difficult, both in terms of family relationships and financial situation. A. is the youngest child out of five brothers and sisters. At the age of 11 he was taken to an out of home residential care and arrived to AHAVA. A. refused to go to school, and in a psychological diagnosis, it turned out that his anxiety from the learning framework completely paralyzed him. In a therapeutic conversation with his personal therapist, he turned out to be very animal-loving. It was decided to work with A. by using animal therapy (among others). Instead of attending school in the morning hours, A. was given therapeutic sessions at the pet zoo (mostly with rodents). At his request, his activities at the pet zoo were expanded, and he arrived there also at noon, where he faced difficulties and chores that did not involve direct contact with animals, such as cleaning cages, brushing horses and cleaning them etc. At a later point, he also asked to join a therapeutic riding group. At this stage, his integration into the group was conditioned in his incorporation into school for several hours a day. The combination of animal therapy, therapeutic horse riding and the condition to integrate into school turned out to be a successful move. A. became very socially active, and after two years he became an assistant of the riding trainer, working with young children. Today we intend to refer A. to a Riding Instructors Assistants course, and later to a Riding Instructors course. At the same time, his academic performance improved and he succeeded in reaching academic achievements. The main thing is that we are on the right track in the process of advancing A.

M.'s story and how AHAVA helped him

M., now 17.5 years old, came to AHAVA when he was 11 years old. His family's background is extremely difficult. His father passed away from AIDS and his mother, who has been a weak woman all her life, suffered from chronic depression, which led to immense difficulty in family conduct. M., who was the third child in his family, was taken out with four of his brothers to out of home residential care and arrived AHAVA with severe anxiety and a low self-esteem as well as in a condition of being underweight and and having suffered malnutrition. M. joined a family residential care home, in which most of the children were young, and the caregivers were very warm. One of his biggest difficulties was trusting the adult world, and therefore the trust was first built between him and the family residential care home caregivers, a process that required a great deal of energy investment in conversations, accompaniment and at one point it was decided to incorporate M. in a unique therapy group that dealt with self-image and personal empowerment. The group has been guided by a psychologist and art therapist. In the group work process, M. turned out to have very good creative skills. After a while, it was decided to transfer M. to the art workshop. Joining the workshop led to a tremendous development in two directions: The first one was a bursting creativity, which was expressed in amazing results and the presentation of M.'s works in a special exhibition held at AHAVA. A second result of this process was that M. felt much better, when he received an appreciation from his surroundings. His level of self-confidence increased and he became closer, both to children his age and to the adults. In high school, M. chose computer graphics as a major subject and was considered one of the outstanding students. In the diagnosis towards his army recruitment, M. asked to serve as a graphic artist also in his military service, and we will encourage him and stay in touch with the military authorities to allow him further development in this creative world. We have no doubt that the process that M. has gone through, and is still going, is a process done with the utmost attention to the child, his abilities and needs. Such a process forms the basis of our work with all children.

Joyce (not real name) is a grade 6 pupil, left with her mother after her father passed away when she was in grade 3. Her mother was forced into wife inheritance by her in-laws as per the Luo* culture and traditions. She was inherited by a man from another ethnic community. The man began to make sexual advances towards Joyce, something that even the mother seemed to tolerate for fear of offending him if she goes against it.

This affected the girl's schooling and general health and she eventually ran away from home to stay with her grandmother. Things worsened when the man who culturally is supposed to be her father went looking for her up to the grandmother's house and demanding for sex. The girl escaped but finally told the grandmother who later informed the school. The school then informed Make Me Smile community paralegals about the matter.

Through the help of the paralegal, the case was reported by the grandmother to the police, the girl taken for medical examination and an arrest order issued. Eventually the man was arrested and charged in court. The case is still on, the abuser is still in custody and the girl is now free to concentrate in school without fear of being followed.

*The Luo people are an ethnic group in western Kenya, northern Uganda, and in Mara Region in northern Tanzania.

HIMAYA IN 2019

- Lama Yazbeck, Executive Director

Himaya is a Lebanese NGO founded in 2008 and officially registered in 2009.

Himaya's mission is to promote an environment suitable for the development of children and ensure their global protection via fighting and preventing violence against children on Lebanese ground.

Himaya is an organization dedicated to making child protection a right across Lebanon. It aims to break the silence and change society's attitude towards children throughout its activities. Himaya offers children the life skills they need to protect themselves but also supports survivors of violence and gives them the psycho-social support they need to overcome their experiences.

In order to be as effective as possible, Himaya works with children, their families, and surroundings as a whole. It strives to make a change on a national level with the help of its two main programs: the prevention and resilience programs. It covers the entire Lebanese territory with offices in Zahle, Mount Lebanon, North Bekaa, Sidon and Tripoli.

Himaya is governed by a Board of 27 members who are all volunteers. A team of 120 professionals works in the different units of the organization. In 2019 the organization held a General Assembly, attended by all 27 Board members. .

Lama Yazbeck has been in charge of the organization for more than 7 years. She is an experienced executive director with a solid background in Special Education.

Biggest achievement in 2019

Himaya's prevention program has implemented a new approach this year to reach a bigger number of children. In fact, the main objective was not only to raise awareness on child protection, to help children build self-protection skills and life skills, but also to identify and refer cases of child abuse to the resilience program, the intervention program of Himaya.

This is why, Himaya created and constructed a network of child protection agents spread out across Lebanon. In fact, Himaya's front liners have trained:

- Animators who are now handling all 17 safe parks in Lebanon and delivering recreational activities to children coming to these safe spaces
- Caregivers and community based organizations' staff who are now delivering awareness activities on child protection to all children living in their communities, through several techniques such as LEGO, sports and numerous others.
- 725 community members were trained to become active agents of protection within their communities and were able to reach more than 7770 child and 15506 caregivers

This way, the child protection network grew progressively throughout the year of 2019, and trained members showed a great motivation and will to reduce child abuse and to capacitate community members with skills that help them protect themselves. These members also took the initiative to create partnerships with local stakeholders within the community, to organize events, to attend trainings related to child protection and to always coordinate and collaborate with other communities.

Most important activities in 2019

1. In 2019 only Himaya was able to work with 1984 cases of which 1669 were cases of violence against children. 969 cases were successfully closed, with a success rate of 55.5% for 2019 for the Resilience Program.

2. After 2 years of working on Alternative Care in Lebanon and training the teams on the topic, Himaya's Resilience Program alongside the Legal Protection unit were able to refer only 53 cases out of the 1844 cases to residential care services which is a significant and positive impact. Extra effort was also put to take children out of residential care services and placed back within their families or placed in foster families. In 2019, Himaya was able to take 16 cases out of the residential care system.

3. During the scarce economic period which hit Lebanon following the Lebanese protests, Himaya worked in collaboration with municipalities and organizations across Lebanon to bring joy and happiness to vulnerable Lebanese families. With the support of their donors and partners, Himaya held events for children and parents across Lebanon during the holiday season.

Himaya's trained animators helped organize fun, entertaining activities including games, parades and clown shows, while their partners were distributing food kits and small gifts to families who are strongly affected by the current economic crisis. The events and activities reached 650 Lebanese families and the team members of Himaya are very grateful to have been able to spread smiles and laughter during these difficult times. Through these initiatives, Himaya's team shared awareness messages and was able to detect cases of children who might have been affected by the situation.

For more information about this activity, watch the video:

<https://youtu.be/8mIKVMDYmZ4>

Those initiatives were organized with the support of local municipalities, local and international NGOs with the support of Unicef Lebanon, International Social Service Switzerland, UNHCR and Plan International.

4. Through different programs, departments and units, Himaya was able to reach 1,679,086 individuals in 2019 alone.

Inspiring story from Himaya's work in practice

During a parenting session on children's rights, Himaya's prevention team and the caregivers participating in the session, were discussing the challenges they face when it comes to meeting their children's need. The discussion inspired a mother to share how, in times when she is feeling overwhelmed, she resorts to using physical and emotional violence against her children. She admitted that she does not always respect her children's rights to express themselves and be heard. Her eldest daughter who is also married and was also participating in the session, added that she does not feel close to her mother and does not feel she could turn to her in times of need.

It took a lot of courage for the mother to talk openly about her hardships and even harder for her daughter to admit the distance which is present in the relationship between herself and her mother.

After the session, the facilitator spoke with the mother in private who explained that she was feeling very stressed and overwhelmed but she is willing to do the needed work to put an end to the violence. She was directly referred to the resilience team, where she received support to care for herself and for her children's needs.

Following a full cycle of psycho-social sessions, the mother informed us that she has observed a huge difference in her own attitude and the way she deals with her children. She no longer resorts to using violence, and has become more aware of her actions and what she says around them. Her daughter also feels her mother is much more attentive to her needs. They both understand it's a long way to go but are still exploring the newly and greatly improved communication between them.

In partnership with UNICEF FICE South Africa is exploring replicating the Isibindi model to Mozambique. A meeting was held with the former first lady of Mozambique, the model has since been presented to the African Child Policy conference in Maputo.

Good practices from South Africa

Responding to the HIV/AIDS crisis as it has affected children, the NACCW) has developed a community-based care and protection intervention option for children, named 'Isibindi' – 'courage' in IsiZulu. Isibindi enables poorly resourced communities to adopt an evidence-based approach to the provision of integrated welfare services, and rapidly develop effective and informed local care and protection services for children.

The Isibindi Ezikoleni (which means Isibindi in schools) is an offshoot of the Isibindi model founded designed by NACCW. Unlike the original Isibindi model the services are rendered in schools and where necessary children receive home visits. The model received support from the National Department of Education who signed a Memorandum of Understanding with FICE South Africa. The model is currently being implemented in five of the nine Provinces in South Africa.

Isibindi Without Borders has been designed to respond to the needs of children in refugee centres. In 2019, FICE South Africa, UNHCR and Greece government held negotiations to initiate a programme to service the refugee children in Athens and Ioninia.

FICE South Africa further designed a model called Isibindi Impilo (translated as Isibindi programme with focus on health). Isibindi Impilo is designed to respond to the health challenges facing youth especially girls using the child and youth care approach. As with Isibindi Ezikoleni, Isibindi Impilo is also an offshoot of the Isibindi model. Isibindi Impilo was implemented in the Western Cape and KwaZulu-Natal Provinces. The aim of the programme is to work with children and youth encouraging them to be tested and to support those that are HIV positive.
