

Contemporary Studies in Kantian Philosophy 5 (2020),
Featuring (1) Essays by Micha Danziger, Addison Ellis,
Daryl Hale, Robert Hanna, Otto Paans, and Roberto
Pereira & (2) Robert Hanna, Ciência e Natureza Humana:
A Complete Portuguese Translation of Kant, Science, and Human Nature.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. Micha Danziger, "Kantian Theoretical Hope," 1-14.
2. Addison Ellis, "Self-Consciousness as Self-Limitation," 15-36.
3. Daryl Hale, "Of Markets and Morals: The Fall of Adam, The Rise of Hayek, and The Return of An Immanuel to Save The Public Good," 37-52.

4. Robert Hanna, "The Essential Non-Conceptuality of the Imagination," 53-72.
5. Robert Hanna, "The Kant Wars and The Three Faces of Kant," 73-94.
6. Otto Paans, "The Imaginative Spectrum: Kantian Imagination and Non-Conceptual/Conceptual Interactions," 95-115.
7. Otto Paans, "Opening Up Towards the Non-Conceptual: From Kantian Judgment to Creative Oscillation," 116-131.
8. Roberto Pereira, "Kantian Non-Conceptualism and Varieties of Skepticism," 132-150.
9. Robert Hanna, Ciência e Natureza Humana: A Complete Portuguese Translation of Kant, Science, and Human Nature (Translators: Patrícia Kauark-Leite [Coordinator and Technical Reviewer], Adilson Luiz Quevedo, Francisco Grynberg Bignotto, and Maria Carolina Mendonça de Resende). Forthcoming in July 2020.

Contemporary Studies in Kantian Philosophy is a sub-project of the online mega-project PHILOSOPHY WITHOUT BORDERS, aka PWB, an online mega-project for creating and sharing original philosophy, all of them freely available to anyone, anywhere, world-wide.

PWB is home-based on Patreon, here:

<https://www.patreon.com/philosophywithoutborders>.

Please consider becoming a patron!