

Science Policy Communication Training with NCSE & COMPASS

Thursday, Jan. 25, 2018

8:00 AM - 5:30 PM

New America Building, 740 15 Street
NW, Washington, DC

Nonmembers: $295; Members: $125

Join NCSE & COMPASS for a day-long policy and communication training.

Register here on the NCSE website

The National Council for Science and the Environment (NCSE) and COMPASS are partnering to offer a one-day science policy and communication training immediately following the conference, hosted by New America. The event is designed specifically for scientists, researchers, deans, and directors, to address the common challenges they share as they seek to increase the use of science in decision making. This hands-on, interactive training will bring participants together to learn how to have effective conversations with policymakers at all levels of government.

Learn more about COMPASS at: compassscicomm.org

Visit the conference website: ncseconference.org

COMPASS

 NEW AMERICA