

maryland
historical society

Join the Conversation

New Perspectives on Slavery and Freedom in Maryland

Wednesday
September 26
5:30 PM

Join the Maryland Historical Society for a panel discussion on race and freedom in Colonial Maryland.

David Armenti, Director of Education, will moderate as Dr. Richard Bell, Chris Haley, and Dr. Martha S. Jones delve into such topics as gender, race and the law, the domestic slave trade, kidnapping, and the Underground Railroad.

A reception and walkthrough of the newly enhanced Divided Voices: Maryland in the Civil War exhibition will follow.

Dr. Richard Bell is Professor of History at the University of Maryland, College Park. His book, The Lost Boys: A Story of Slavery and Justice on the Reverse Underground Railroad, is forthcoming from Simon & Schuster.

Chris Haley is Director for the Study of the Legacy of Slavery in Maryland at the Maryland State Archives, which "seeks to preserve and promote the vast universe of experiences that have shaped the lives of Maryland's African American population."

Dr. Martha S. Jones is a Society of Black Alumni Presidential Professor and Professor of History at Johns Hopkins University. She is the author of the recently published, Birthright Citizens: A History of Race and Rights in Antebellum America.

Register at www.mdhs.org or call 410-685-3750. Registration is encouraged.

201 W. Monument St., Baltimore, MD 21201