

Memoir for Me

capture a life story

August Updates: On Editing, Accessories, and More

From the Blog: 4 Tips to Make Your Writing Stronger

I often struggle to answer the basic question, "What do you do?" Sometimes I just say, "Writer." But I should really say, "Editor." The amount of time spent on editing my work hugely outweighs the time spent writing it.

Editing can be painful and much less gratifying than the feeling of those initial typed words flying onto the page. Writing is like throwing paint onto a wall, freeing and fun. Editing is making something useful out of it. While not instantly rewarding, the end result of careful and thoughtful editing always pays off.

Read More

Limited Edition Bracelet Available

We believe this statement so strongly, we want to wear it... in 3 colors!

Available in silver, gold and rose gold, this bangle makes the perfect statement accessory for any outfit.

Buy one for your mom, daughter, friend or for you! Starting at $30.

Shop Here

Upcoming Workshop!

Join me for this special one-off workshop perfect to get started writing your life stories on Wednesday, August 10, 2-3pm at Carpe Librum (4047 N. Milwaukee). All writing levels welcome.

While there, browse the aisles and pick up some new books while giving back to a great nonprofit, Turning the Page.

Class is only $15/per person. Email me to RSVP.

In Case You Missed It

Watch this short video on how Memoir for Me created once-in-a-lifetime gifts for these clients and how we can create a special memory book for your family.

Watch Video

STAY CONNECTED:

