

Pregnant?

Opioid Addicted?

Do you want help?

Do you want to understand the disease of addiction?

ALL substances might affect your pregnancy. High Point Clinic offers specialized pregnancy and new mom care through recovery education, support, and encouragement in a positive environment. Studies show that medication assisted treatment in which patients are treated with Buprenorphine (Suboxone or Subutex) helps in pregnancy to address neurochemical imbalances present in persons with a history of opiate abuse.

Things You Will Learn

- Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome
- Finnegan Scale
- Breastfeeding & Nutrition
- Delivery & Newborn Issues
- Health Department, guest speakers
- Life Skills & Coping Skills
- Managing Health Risks
- Talking with Healthcare Providers
- Long-term Birth Control
- Understanding Emotions

What you receive:
weekly physician visits,
group support, individual
help, case management, therapy, and resource assistance.

Evidence Based Addiction Medicine

High Point Clinic provides a safe and welcoming environment so we can truly partner with you during your recovery. Our holistic, team-based approach uses the latest techniques as well as proven methods in opioid addiction recovery to help you make the lasting changes needed in your thoughts and behaviors to recover your life.

Professional Support

- Board Certified Addictionologists
- Physicians experienced in the treatment of addiction
- Licensed professional counselors/mental health service providers
- Master's Level counselors
- Case management
- Support staff

Recovery

Addiction is a disease. Every person needs to be treated with respect and care. Combining counseling, case management, and the most progressive and evidence based opioid addiction treatment, we aid you in your recovery.

CALL TODAY
(423) 631-0731