

The background of the image shows three people in silhouette, jumping or running joyfully against a sky at sunset. The sun is a bright orange circle on the horizon, casting a warm glow. The people are in various dynamic poses, with arms and legs outstretched. The overall mood is one of happiness and freedom.

“The days your gone, I will always remember the best time’s we ever had. I won’t forget your laugh and smile that will forever be unforgettable.”

By, Robert Oswalt