

A close-up photograph of a heart-shaped object with a vibrant, iridescent sheen. The object's surface reflects a spectrum of colors, including deep blues, purples, oranges, and yellows, creating a rainbow-like effect. It is positioned on a dark, textured wooden surface, which provides a stark contrast to the object's bright, multi-colored appearance. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the contours and the shimmering texture of the heart.

*“It doesn’t matter what gender, race or religion you are,
we are all different in all ways, so why do people judge? If we were all the same life would be boring”*

By, Robert Oswalt